

Sir William McMAHON, PC, GCMG, CH

Prime Minister 10 March 1971 to 5 December 1972

- William McMahon became the 20th prime minister in 1971 when elected leader of the parliamentary Liberal Party after the resignation of John Gorton.
- Member of the Liberal Party of Australia 1949-82.
- Member of House of Representatives for Lowe (NSW) 1950-82.

Minister for Navy and Minister for Air 1951-54, Social Services 1954-1956, Primary Industry 1956-58, Labour and National Service 1958-66, Treasurer 1966-69, Minister for External Affairs 1969-71.

- His period as Prime Minister ended on 5 December 1972, after the Liberal-Country Party coalition was defeated by Labor at the general election.

Main Achievements (1971-1972)

- His ministry was the first to have a Minister for Aboriginal Affairs.
- Accelerated the withdrawal of combat troops from Vietnam, announcing on 18 August 1971 the return of the Australian Task Force by December.
- Announced program for granting self-government to the Australian territories of Papua New Guinea in April 1971.
- Initiated reform of the offshore mining legislation of the Gorton government and dealt with the demarcation issue over the continental shelf between Australia and Indonesia.

Personal life

- Born in Sydney, New South Wales, 23 February 1908. Died Sydney, 31 March 1988.
- Educated at Sydney Grammar School 1923-26, University of Sydney where he graduated with a law degree 1933 and economics degree 1949.
- In 1939 he enlisted in the army and rose to the rank of major. A hearing problem meant he was ineligible for overseas service.
- In June 1977 made a Knight Grand Cross of the Order of St Michael and St George (GCMG).
- Married Sonia Hopkins, Sydney, 11 December, 1965.

MUSEUM
OF AUSTRALIAN
DEMOCRACY

OLD PARLIAMENT HOUSE

Life after politics

- Retired from parliament on 4 January 1982.
- Worked as a financial advisor to the Bank of America and BA Cash Management company.

Character

- His slight form, tremulous voice and frequent verbal disasters led him to be seriously underrated. Nevertheless, he had extraordinary energy and persistence (Source: Parliamentary Debates, House of Representatives, Volume 160, pp 1403-1407)

Did you know?

- His youngest child was born in 1971 during his period in office, making him only the third prime minister with a newborn baby during office.
- In 1967, Country Party leader, John McEwen vetoed McMahon as the Liberal's choice for prime minister.
- He was 63 years old when he became prime minister, the oldest after John McEwen.

Sources

Sekules, Peter, 'William McMahon' in Michelle Grattan (ed.), Australian Prime Ministers, New Holland, Sydney, 2000, pp 314-323.

National Archives of Australia: <http://primeministers.naa.gov.au>

Further reading

Howson, Peter, The Howson Diaries: The Life of Politics, Viking Press, Melbourne, 1984.

Reid, Alan, The Power Struggle, Shakespeare Head Press, Sydney, 1969.

MUSEUM
OF AUSTRALIAN
DEMOCRACY

OLD PARLIAMENT HOUSE